Peter's faith was rewarded in a unique way - he became the Rock (but remember how he behaved at Jesus's passion). The papacy may not be a reasonable ambition for us, but we are all 'living stones' in the temple of the Church and we all, personally, have our place in supporting the edifice. In the Vigil Mass the question arises in a different form: Peter, do you love me? This time it is the risen Jesus, aware of Peter's betrayal, who poses the question, and he asks us the same thing. • Paul as usual speaks for himself. He seems to boast of the crown he will receive, but he is boasting for God, for he knows that without God's power he would have achieved nothing. Pay it special attention; today is the only day when one of the readings is written by someone whose feast day it is. Liturgy planner.

For Today Mass

Responsorial psalm

From all my terrors the Lord set me free.

Gospel acclamation

You are Peter and on this rock I will build my Church.
And the gates of the underworld can never hold out against it.

Jako święty, powszechny i apostołski Kościół gromadzimy się w ten wspaniały dzień apostołów Piotra i Pawła, by wystawiać Imię Pana i głosić Jego potęgę. Kościół założony na fundamencie dwunastu apostołów zawsze otaczał szczególną czcią dwóch spośród nich: Piotra, któremu Pan powierzył najwyższą władzę pasterską, i Pawła, który rozniósł słowo Ewangelii po całym Imperium Romanum. Od początku też powtarzano: Ubi Petrus, ibi Ecclesia: gdzie Piotr, tam Kościół. Dlatego my dzisiaj wiernie stajemy przy Piotrze naszych czasów — papieżu Franciszku, by przeżywać naszą jedność z Kościołem Powszechnym. Bogu wszechmogącemu składamy wielkie dziękczynienie za to, że pozwolił nam być dziećmi swego Kościoła. Niech Pan wzbudzi w nas apostołskiego ducha, byśmy tak jak święty Paweł mogli nieść Ewangelię Chrystusa do wszystkich ludzi. WIARA.PL
