Jesus returns to Nazareth where he grew up, about thirty miles away and inland. Here he is among people who know him but when he starts to preach in the synagogue he is rejected, although his wisdom and capacity as a healer are recognised. (In Luke's version of the story Jesus accuses the people of indifference even before they reject him, which enrages them.) Note that Mark says he could work no miracle in that place, but then softens this statement, saying he did cure a few sick people - it wasn't that he had 'magic powers' that other people could switch off, but that the gift of healing was a response to faith. His mission was to go, like Ezekiel in 1R, to an obstinate and unresponsive people and tell them 'The Lord says this.' They will know, like the people of Nazareth, that a prophet is among them, but they will ignore him. The Psalm response seems to put us in the place of Jesus, asking God for support in the face of scorn and disdain. And the 2R with its 'thorn in the flesh' is a rare avowal of weakness and pain from Paul. What this 'thorn' was is a subject of unending speculation. Today we use it of an annoying person, but for Paul it was probably something more intimate, a physical or spiritual impediment.

For Today Mass

Responsorial psalm

Our eyes are in the Lord till he show us his mercy.

Gospel acclamation

The Word was made flesh and lived among us; to all who did accept him he gave power to become children of God.

Fragment dzisiejszej Ewangelii ukazuje nam odrzucenie Jezusa przez mieszkańców Nazaretu, przez swoich, gdzie się wychował. Dostrzegli oni mądrość Jezusa, Jego żywą relację z Bogiem, rozpoznali w Nim proroka, a mimo to nie otworzyli się na Jego nauczanie. Nie przyjęli Go jako proroka. Jezus podsumował ich zachowanie słowami dobrze znanego w tamtym czasie w Palestynie przysłowia o lekceważeniu proroka w swojej ojczyźnie. Niewiara i niechęć to główne postawy „Nazaretu”. Jaka jest moja postawa? Czy przyjmuję łaskę wiary?
